WESTWOOD — This past week, UCLA administration has bravely taken to the streets to protest the injustices committed by the “pesky” AFSCME labor union. “It’s not fair how they keep asking to be paid. We need to stand up against the wrongdoings of – I mean to – the upper class!” said lead organizer Chancellor

Julio Frenk during a furious rant about having to eat De Neve out of a paper box. “Among our list of reasonable demands is for AFSCME members to promise to work overtime on weekends and holidays, and to change their name to a shorter acronym that rolls off the tongue a bit better.” At press time, the administration had called the

AUSTIN, TX — This weekend, second-year Mechanical Engineering major Diem Vee posted multiple photo dumps of himself trackside at the 2025 United States Grand Prix despite having failed his driver’s test five times. “People complained Piastri’s turn 1 incident yesterday was because he didn’t brake properly, and I know braking is when you press the right pedal. Or the middle one. How many pedals are in a car?” asked Vee, who claims his electric scooter is “just as fast” as the Mercedes W11. “Did you see Leclerc’s overtake on Russell during the Dutch Grand Prix? When I tried overtaking the car in front of me during my license test, I rear ended it and the examiner snapped my permit in half.” At press time, Vee was seen standing around while his only friend with a car fixed a flat tire, despite loudly complaining about McLaren’s slow pit stops.

Rocco’s First Bar to Admit 10-Year-Old: “His ID Scanned” Claims Bouncer

BY AIDAN SAUTNER
November 17, 2025

WESTWOOD — Craving an apple juice on the rocks, ten-year-old James Kidd used his mom’s ID to gain entry to local bar Rocco’s Tavern last Thursday night, stirring up controversy. “I went up to the bar to order another Vodka Red and—BAM—there was a little kid to my left, double-fisting two AMFs,” said 25-year-old Wayne Tuold, renowned super-senior who’s clocked more Thirsty Thursday hours than time in Powell. “Asked him how he got in and he pulled out an invitation to his eleventh birthday party happening there that night. Said if you got any sort of ID, Rocco’s will let it slide. Kid was lit.” At press time, James was spotted once again strolling through Rocco’s, Guinness in one hand, Nintendo Switch in the other.

WESTWOOD — UCLA’s ten thousand consulting clubs recently came under fire when they were consulted on what their clubs really do besides pose for headshots outside Royce Hall. “While the focus of our club is to stick our noses into large corporations’ business, we dream about it becoming a feeder for the most ethically dubious firms we can find. As for what we actually do in our meetings? We’ll circle back and touch base with you about that later,” said fifth-year Business Economics student J.P. Morgan, whose last LinkedIn post was about what not having a summer internship taught him about B2B marketing. “From a macro view, our main focus is on denying all but 3 kids from the Bay each recruitment cycle to keep our offer rate looking prestigious. Once we’re bored of that, we like making the trust fund-wannabes and future Palantir interns in this club guess how many ping pong balls can fit into our Boeing 747.” At press time, Morgan was seen loudly bragging in line for Rocco’s about the job he had just gotten at his family stock fund.

BY SHAYNE SWEET

WESTWOOD — Earlier this quarter, local math professor Dr. Ivil has come under fire after scheduling a midterm for Week 4, a week that is definitively not halfway to Week 10. “I just think that students need to be pushed to be their very best, which is why I don’t give them any time to absorb the material or learn anything past rote memorization.” Said Dr. Ivil, while struggling his way through a Kumon fractions worksheet. “Besides, the midterm only counts for 50% of their grade. That’s just a quarter of their grade. They don’t need a curve, a practice test, a cheat sheet, lesson slides, or for me to speak at an audible volume during lectures. And we’re only covering thirteen chapters of the textbook! I’m being quite reasonable.” At press time, Dr. Ivil was scheduling the final exam for week twoteen.

BY ALEX YANG

WESTWOOD — In preparation for this week’s rare October storm, one local resident has decided to take up driving like shit in order to lessen the effects of the deluge. “As soon as a single raindrop falls in L.A., all hell breaks loose. Everyone forgets how to drive! So this year, I figured I would ready myself for the mayhem by swerving around to avoid imaginary puddles during my daily commute down the 10,” said Blake Check, whose car’s tread depth was shallower than the average influencer’s personality. “Braking hard for no apparent reason and weaving in and out of lanes with zero regard for the cars around me are crucial defensive driving techniques, so I might as well work on them, rain or shine!” At press time, Check was seen demonstrating his driving proficiency all over Wilshire Boulevard, causing a 14-car pileup.

WESTWOOD — Following flooding at Hedrick Hall this morning, residents have been commanded to find two of every animal through a divine email mandate from UCLA Housing. “We’re not technically supposed to have pets in the dorms, so the best I can do is to lure a bunch of squirrels away from the Hill with a BCafe sandwich. I hope God understands,” said first-year Biology student Noah Park, ushering cockroaches from the communal bathroom onto a Bird scooter. “The flooding’s supposed to last for 40 days and 40 nights, which should be around how long it takes to reach the bottom of the Hill from here.” At press time, a swarm of locusts had made the rat problem even worse in Rieber Court.

Stolen Goods Stolen From Place With Exclusively Stolen Goods

BY MAGGIE KWAN
October 22, 2025

PARIS — Parisian police officers were stunned to discover this weekend that priceless jewels were stolen from the Louvre, a place that exclusively houses priceless stolen goods. “Mon dieu, it is so tragique that precious art was stolen from such a historique museum after we originally looted them from le Sur Global and lesser white cultures,” said Paris police commissioner Magali Charbonneau, sipping a café au lait on the banks of the Seine while a robber walked by with a Van Gogh from Musee d’Orsay. “I’ve spoken with le Louvre about ze next steps, and we agree that we must start stealing more art to replace our lost collection. I understand that the British Museum has some things that were not originally theirs. As they say, ze third or fourth party that finds them gets to keep them.” At press time, the Louvre increased security measures by directing more workers to guard the Mona Lisa and further limit viewers to one glimpse of the painting from thirty meters away.

JERRY NEUHEISEL ADMITS TO USING ETSY WITCH AFTER WIN AGAINST PENN STATE

WESTWOOD — In a press conference following UCLA Football’s upset victory against now-unranked Penn State, UCLA interim offensive coordinator Jerry Neuheisel revealed that he had hired a witch on Etsy to cast a spell on QB Nico Iamaleava to grant him the magical power of actually moving the ball downfield. “I’ve seen the success that other uhhh... gunslingers have had with Etsy enchantresses, and there’s nothing in the NCAA’s rulebook that prohibits performing incantations for your quarterback,” said Neuheisel, modeling for the sculptor constructing a statue of him to be displayed in front of the Rose Bowl. “I don’t want to spoil too much of next week’s game plan, but the stars are aligned for running back Anthony Woods to literally steamroll the Michi-

WESTWOOD — After starting high-profile beef with Wasian pop stars Olivia Rodrigo and Charli xcx, private jet enthusiast Taylor Swift was spotted touring UCLA, the capital of Wasia, in search of a new diverse diva to write melodramatic diss tracks about. “I don’t know why all

Like, sorry I don’t have your exotic, semi-oriental beauty — it isn’t my fault I was born with this pale, opalite skin,” said Swift, as she insisted that her necklace was just a symbol of divine energy and definitely not anything else. “If anything, Wasians have it too good. They get to enjoy the benefits of white culture like display curator and self-proclaimed “prompt-engineer” Damien Beauregard. “We’re exploring the concept of separating art entirely from the artist, which is just another example of the premium con-

Ensures Froyo Machine Will Break More Often

BY COOPER CHANDLER
October 21, 2025

WESTWOOD – In a surprise new development, BPlate has announced a partnership with the fast food chain McDonald's to ensure that the froyo machine remains perpetually out of service. "Although our menus couldn't be more different, we realized that we had common ground in our hatred of seeing our customers happy, and I think that's what's important," said BPlate spokesperson Tin E. Portion during a press conference held in the 40 minute steak line. "Soon it will only work on what we will call Froyo Fridays, which are on the first Thursday of every month. If you gluttonous pigs are good about it, we might consider a second day, but knowing how y'all eat, don't get your hopes up." At press time, Eportion was seen heckling a sorority girl for grabbing extra lettuce at the salad bar.

DE NEVE OYSTER NIGHT ENDS AS EXPECTED

BY CLAUDIA BLOOM
October 27, 2025

Tuesday night, what was supposed to be a celebratory evening with unlimited raw bivalves at the least refined dining hall ended in messy horror. "They always tell me, 'play the hits, cook what works.' But everyone is tired of American classics like Flaming Hot Cheeto Pizza.

Why don't we introduce a taste of luxury to these poor

Director John Eater recalled, mid-slurp of his fifteenth oyster of the night. "Where I got the oysters? Oh yeah, you can just find them for free under the Santa Monica Pier. Cost-conscious and delicious!" At press time, John and all the attendees were found throwing up in De Neve Plaza.

UCLA Dedicated To Mission Of Finding World's Leakiest Cup

BY SHAYNE SWEET
November 5, 2025

In a recent blast email, UCLA reiterated its dedication to its longstanding mission of finding the world's leakiest biodegradable cup. "For too long, Big Cup has convinced us that hot liquids should stay off our skin. We're changing that," shared UCLA Housing representative Recycling McGee, sipping a shallow pool of coffee from his cupped hands. "Our expert team of first-year engineering students is dedicated to using compostable materials that we can then immediately mix with garbage in our trash bins for a net neutral effect on the environment. Neutral is good. We like it." At press time, McGee was seen attempting a Dairy Queen-style upside-down cup trick, burning his penis clean off.

Top 5 Dining Hall Beverages That Taste Like Squirt

BY GURT YONIC
September 30, 2025

1. Rendezvous Lemonade
For such a pathetic lay like myself, squirt comes around just about as often as this drink. Also, much like the splash zones I've experienced, this drink may or may not be piss.
2. B-Plate Cranberry Spritzer
Better than crack. This refreshment is 50% foam, 50% Red 40, and 100% pleasure. There are few things that bring so much joy to my life like this wonderful concoction. Once you find a broad like this, you gotta put a ring on it.
3. Everything from The Drey
The horchata is free for a reason.
4. Epicuria Chamomile Tea
It puts me right to sleep and smells a little questionable, but it's a real fan favorite. Though it burns my tongue from time to time, that's just the cost of doing business.

Opinion: The Only Way To Stop A Guy With A Gun Shooting A Guy Talking About Guns Is A Guy With A Bigger Gun

BY MAGGIE KWAN
September 10, 2025

How do you respond when one guy talking about “good guys with guns” gets shot by a guy with a gun? Perhaps, you may think, we should advocate for stricter, bipartisan gun control laws. To you uneducated fools who think this way, I propose a better, more common-sense solution. We need a third guy with a bigger gun. My girl friends (space between girl and friend, I’m not a weirdo who dates before marriage) keep telling me size matters, and I agree. A person’s dick size? The size of their parents’ trust fund?

There’s only one size I care about: how many bullets a gun can spit out in 60 seconds. The bigger that number is, the closer I get to climax. By my Grok AI calculations, we only need a gun that’s 20% to 150% bigger to stop guys with guns everywhere.

Trump’s $1 Billion Settlement Shuts Down The Westwood Enabler

BY RACHANA AITHAL
August 9, 2025
WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Westwood Enabler has been shut down.

On Friday, the Trump administration sent UCLA their proposal for a $1 billion settlement, in response to the Justice Department investigation that determined the university violated federal civil rights laws. “We’re not funding useless shit anymore,” said Press Secretary Isabella “Izz” Reale, speaking from the proposed site of the $200 million White House State Ballroom. “We need to see major changes. No more anti-American protests, no more DEI scholarships, no more gender-affirming healthcare.” “But most importantly, no more Enabler.”

Pasadena Native Won’t Shut Up About NYC Election

BY AIDAN KEO
November 4, 2025

WESTWOOD — Despite never traveling east of Joshua Tree, second-year political science student and Pasadena native Callie West will not shut up about New York City’s mayoral race. “The Z in Zohran stands for zaddy. He really knows what’s best for New Yorkers and people with the soul of the city, like me. I may be physically in the Rose Bowl, but spiritually, I’m living it up in MSG,” said West, who was voted most likely to die in the hospital she was born in. “Cuomo? Beat it, bozo! He touches fannies and kills grannies. I wish I came up with that, but it’s an actual Curtis Sliwa quote. I would vote for him if he didn’t want to have feral cats stop-and-frisk every minority in the Big Apple and if I were registered to vote in New York. But as

Trump Gives 15-Year-Old Girl Apology Smooch

BY PAIGE REED
November 14, 2025

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Following new revelations about his relationship with Jeffrey Epstein, who he calls “the greatest pedophile of all time,” President Donald J. Trump decided to formally apologize by giving a local 15-year-old girl a big ol’ smooch. “I’m so sorry for being a pedophile,” said Trump, a single tear smudging his signature bronze face as a crowd of reporters snapped photos of the emotional moment. “I wish I could give every underage girl in our beautiful country a beautiful apology kiss on the lips with tongue, but I can’t. If I’m truly sorry about anything, it’s that.” Following Trump’s apology, Little Saint James was renamed “The Isle of America” in honor of the president’s fallen comrade.

Democrats Advance Key Policy Goal of Strengthening Republican Party

BY ANNIKA BRUCIA & GEORGIA MCNEILL
November 14, 2025

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Weeks of less-than-firm resolve paid off Wednesday as Democrats forged a shut-down-ending compromise that accomplishes one of the party’s longstanding goals: strengthening the Republican Party.

“I’ll admit it: we got a bit distracted while enjoying our taxpayer-funded vacation. But after sweeping Democratic election victories and record-low approval for the Trump administration, we knew we had to act fast to squander our lead,” explained Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer, while retrieving an envelope of cash from behind a toilet.

The newly-passed bill manages to reverse the blue wave by employing the little-known strategy of giving your opponent everything they want and asking for nothing in return. When asked how the bill would affect constituents who relied on the Democratic Party to protect ACA subsidies, Schumer responded, “What? Who? They should have had their lobbyist contact me.”

At press time, Democrat leaders were overheard discussing a Clinton-Fetterman ticket for the 2028 presidential election.

Opinion: To Solve UCLA's Financial Challenges, We Must Invest More Money Into Israel

BY OILUJ KNERF

November 20, 2025

Hey guys. Westwood Enabler opinion writer Oiluj Knerf here. I'm a UCLA student just like you! I love my friends, I love my classes, and most of all, I love getting emails from my Chancellor, Julio Frenk. He's so cool. Man, I wish he was my dad.

Now, I'm just your average everyday Bruin on the street. What do I know about geopolitics, UCLA's 7.7 billion dollar endowment, or how to deal with the Trump administration? But when sweet Julio said we're losing money, I knew I had to help figure out a solution. I kept hearing about divesting from this whole "Israel" thing, but this made me have a brilliant idea: what if we INvest into Israel! Gotta make that cash! Plus, I learned that they're the Only Democracy In The Middle East™ and under attack by terrorism (ahhhhhh!!!), so we gotta invest in them. With like, a LOT of money. It makes us money and it makes them money: who loses?

I think the Big F has been doing a great job at listening to students like me. I'm always going to Campus Community Conversations and "brown

OpenAI Announces $40 Billion Deal With OpenAI

BY ZACH FISCHER

November 5, 2025

SAN FRANCISCO — This Tuesday at the quarterly AI Masturbation Keynote, CEO Sam Altman announced that OpenAI has invested a groundbreaking $40 billion into tech giant OpenAI. "We're going to buy one million NVIDIA GPUs and then throw them into the ocean," said Altman, with his hand entirely down in his pants. "But mostly, this investment will help train the latest model of ChatGPT on outputs from ChatGPT. And also to subsidize labor as we lay off 3,000 employees." At press time, Sam Altman was seen joining a human CEO-ntipede alongside Jensen Huang and Satya Nadella.

Value of Meal Swipe Reduced To Gentle Kiss On The Cheek

BY ALYSSA WONG

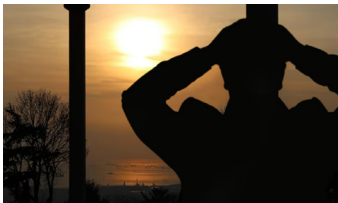

November 5, 2025

WESTWOOD — UCLA Dining announced today that it has reduced the monetary value of an on-campus swipe to a single gentle kiss on the cheek. "I thought the downgrading of swipes would make me starve before class, but it turns out I'm more touch starved than anything else," said Randall Fuddle, a second-year biology major who paid in change for his Panda Express bowl after accepting a wet smooch from a weary cashier. "I asked what two swipes would get me, and apparently it's an additional tender kiss on the forehead, which is pretty nice." At press time, UCLA Dining clarified that the kisses are only for those with 19P meal plans, with all other meal plans receiving a slap in the face.
